

The US has Committed and Threatened Countless Human Rights Violations in Only the First Month of the New Administration

In the first month of Donald Trump's second term as US president and Elon Musk's role as head of DOGE (Musk is a "special government employee", which is unelected and without Senate confirmation, and Musk's actions have been legally challenged as beyond that position's powers;¹ and DOGE is a rebranding of the United States Digital Service that the president has placed in effective control of all federal agencies without clear legal authorization and also legally challenged),² the administration has enacted dozens of executive orders (EOs), policies, and DOGE actions that have targeted at-risk groups with harassment, harm, and persecution as well as removed protections from such groups and allegedly committed or threatened other serious human rights violations, leading to dozens of lawsuits and numerous court orders temporarily blocking allegedly illegal actions as litigation progresses.³ The administration allegedly appears to have already ignored some of the court orders, raising concerns of a looming constitutional crisis.⁴

Human Rights Now (HRN), an international human rights NGO based in Tokyo, expresses great concern over the negative human rights impacts that many of the administration's actions pose or threaten if Congress or the courts are not able to stop them, and we call on the administration to reverse all orders and decisions that violate or threaten the US's international human rights obligations and standards.⁵ The following sections review five categories of risks to human rights under the new administration.

1. Threats to racial and national minorities

Many administration policies focus on deporting and allegedly abusing undocumented immigrants (UIs) and minority US citizens as well as removing government diversity programs and protections for minorities and firing and harassing minority staff across and beyond the federal government.

a) Concerns related to arbitrary deportations of minorities

- Mass Deportations. In the first two weeks, the Trump administration reported deporting over a 7000 people it claims are UIs through the immigration enforcement agency ICE, out of a total of 15 to 20 million it intends to deport with military assistance.⁶ These are occurring under expanded and eased fast-track deportation procedures including persons with pending asylum applications.⁷
- Restricting Asylum. The administration has revived the "Remain in Mexico" policy, which forces asylum seekers to wait outside U.S. borders while their claims are processed.⁸ It has also suspended all asylum procedures on the Southern border as well as restricting asylum eligibility from some countries such as in Central America.⁹
- Guantanamo Bay Detentions. Some UIs listed for deportation are being detained in a "prison camp complex" in Guantanamo Bay, despite not being found criminal under any procedure.¹⁰ It is illegal to hold non-prisoners in criminal facilities.¹¹ The administration expressed an intention to expand its facilities for holding deportees and suggested an intention to detain more than 30,000 deportees.¹²
- Deportations of Non-citizens to Panama and Costa Rica and Detentions. The administration has deported at least 299 non-Panamanian migrants to Panama, including children, under an agreement with Panama, with nearly 100 being detained in a remote camp in the Darien jungle region with unclear information on the duration.¹³ Detainees described the camp conditions as "primitive" and "like a zoo, there are fenced cages," and it was reported that "[d]iseases, including dengue are endemic to the region, and the government has denied access to journalists and aid organizations."¹⁴ On February 20, the first group of 135 non-Costa Rican migrants, including 65 children, arrived in

Costa Rica to be reportedly sent to their countries of origins within 30 days if possible.¹⁵ It is generally not legal under US law to deport persons to different countries than the country of their citizenship.¹⁶

- Deportation Abuses. Complaints have been made by receiving countries of abuses during deportations, such as the shackling of 104 deportees to India over a 40 hour flight.¹⁷ The detentions in Guantanamo Bay raise serious concerns of abusive treatment for detainees, given the long history of serious abuses against Guantanamo Bay detainees during the War on Terror, including torture.¹⁸
- US Citizen Deportations. There have been reported cases of US citizens being detained by ICE¹⁹ and credible warnings of a high risk of US citizen deportations whether by mistake or intentionally.²⁰ The administration's Secretary of State Mark Rubio noted that the president of El Salvador "offered to [imprison in El Salvador] dangerous criminals currently in custody and serving their sentence in the United States even though they're U.S. citizens or legal residents," an agreement (along with his offer to receive UI criminals) that Rubio described as "the most unprecedented and extraordinary migratory agreement anywhere in the world" and "an act of extraordinary friendship."²¹ The deportation of US citizens including naturalized and criminal citizens is illegal under US law.²²
- Reprisals for Deportation Interference. The Department of Justice under the administration has filed lawsuits against Illinois and Chicago officials for sanctuary laws (restricting deportations of UIs without criminal records) and the state and officials of New York over immigration enforcement and greenlight laws (allowing UIs to receive drivers licenses).²³ The FCC has also begun investigating a radio station in an apparent reprisal for reporting on immigration enforcement actions.²⁴
- Eliminating Birthright Citizenship. The administration has attempted to order the revocation of the "birthright" clause of the Constitution's 14th Amendment to deny citizenship to persons born inside the US of non-citizen parents. This order flagrantly violates the clear text of the Constitution and is currently being blocked by court injunction.²⁵
- Summary Legal Analysis. Abuses and arbitrary detentions of persons inside the US violate International Covenant on Civil and Political Rights (ICCPR) rights on freedom from arbitrary detention and ill treatment.²⁶ Suspension of asylum applications flagrantly violates the US's obligation to protect refugees under the 1951 Refugee Convention and its 1967 Protocol,²⁷ and the return of refugees to states where they face threats to life or human rights violations (or requiring them to remain in such places) violates the core obligation of non-refoulement, Article 33 of the Convention.²⁸

b) Concerns related to eliminating minority staff and government programs serving minorities

- Minority Staff Eliminations. The administration has stated an intention to fire 220,000 probationary federal government employees and others in an evident purge, with at least 75,000 resigning in a buy-out and at least 30,000 fired,²⁹ while it is also making minority hiring more difficult and eliminating worker civil rights protections, creating conditions to greatly reduce minority government staff.³⁰ The administration has repealed affirmative action in hiring and contracts and "diversity, equity, and inclusion" (DEI) programs in federal agencies and the private sector, including DEI training programs in federal workplaces and federally funded organizations and corporate DEI programs through tax rules, facilitating a purge of minority staff and hostile work environments for them.³¹
- Diversity Funding Cuts. The administration also has removed funding and programs related to race under the anti-DEI pretext, which include, e.g., medical programs targeting minority health issues.³² Similarly, university and research programs are facing funding cuts, intimidation of minority students, student loan cuts, new tax burdens, and endowment losses, targeting (but not limited to) diversity related programs.³³

- Harassment of “Diversity” Staff. Under the influence of the administration’s anti-diversity rhetoric, a nonprofit organization has publicly released the names, photos, and information (doxxing) of 50 federal workers that have supported diversity, the majority Black, in a context which appears to target them for public harassment, reprisal, and violence without a reported government response to end it.³⁴
- Summary Legal Analysis. The above actions contradict the US’s obligations under the Convention on the Elimination of Racial Discrimination (CERD) and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibits discrimination based on race, gender, and other factors in employment, as well as Executive Order 11246 of 1965, mandating affirmative action in federal employment.³⁵

2. Threats against the protection of human rights internationally

A number of actions by the administration directly undermine the protection of human rights internationally.

- USAID Elimination. The administration has closed the US Agency for International Development (USAID), frozen its foreign aid programs, and dismissed its over 2000 staff.³⁶ Judges have temporarily blocked the actions,³⁷ and a complaint has already been made for non-compliance with the court order.³⁸ USAID operates in over 50 countries providing over $489 million in food aid and programs to combat HIV, polio, mpox and bird flu globally, all of which will end under the order.³⁹
- International Organization Withdrawals. The administration has withdrawn the US from several international organizations related to human rights including the Human Rights Council,⁴⁰ the World Health Organization,⁴¹ and the Paris Agreement on climate change,⁴² and it has permanently withdrawn its funding of UNRWA, the UN office providing aid and services to Palestinians in Gaza.⁴³
- ICC Sanctions. For their investigations into Israel’s conduct in the Gaza conflict, the administration has leveled sanctions against the ICC and ICC prosecutor Karim Khan.⁴⁴ Following the sanctions, 79 states made a joint communication stating that the “Sanctions would severely undermine all situations currently under investigation as the court may have to close its field offices.”⁴⁵
- Proposals for Illegal Land Seizures. The administration has made aggressive statements expressing or suggesting an intention to illegally seize, acquire, or annex foreign territory including Greenland, the Panama Canal,⁴⁶ Canada,⁴⁷ and Gaza,⁴⁸ which have generated numerous statements of strong opposition by foreign leaders and international authorities.⁴⁹
- Threats of Unconsented Drone Strikes in Mexico. The administration designated several Mexican drug cartels as terrorist groups, which Musk later clarified "means they're eligible for drone strikes," about which Trump in 2022 reportedly stated "No one would know it was us," and Mexican President Claudia Sheinbaum stated "This cannot be an opportunity for the U.S. to invade our sovereignty."⁵⁰
- Eliminating Foreign Bribery Rules. The administration has ordered the non-enforcement of laws prohibiting bribery of foreign officials, encouraging flagrant corruption that may undermine rights.⁵¹
- Dangerous Statements on Gaza. The administration has repeatedly threatened to illegally annex and ethnically cleanse Gaza of the Palestinian population by permanently removing them to Egypt, Jordan, or other countries without consent, a crime against humanity.⁵² On February 11, the administration threatened to end the Gaza ceasefire early under new conditions of Hamas releasing all hostages by the end of the week (or “all hell is going to break out”) a version of which Netanyahu also repeated, although the administration backed down after the release of three more hostages on February 15.⁵³
- Dangerous Statements on Ukraine. Without consulting Ukraine or European allies, the administration has been in discussions with Russian president Vladimir Putin in an apparent attempt to force a peace agreement without Ukraine or European involvement, despite Russian aggression against Ukraine in flagrant violation of international law, as well as widespread war crimes and crimes against humanity by Russian forces in the conflict.⁵⁴ The administration also reportedly threatened to cut Ukraine off from Musk's vital Starlink satellite internet access if it refuses US control of 50% of Ukraine's mineral resources as part of the deal.⁵⁵ European leaders and officials have castigated it, with EU top diplomat Kaja Kallas labeling such an agreement "appeasement" and "a dirty deal".⁵⁶ The reported outlines of such an agreement do not address the future security needs, human rights, and protection of Ukrainian civilians (in Ukraine and in Russian occupied territory) nor accountability of Russian forces and officials for grave violations committed in the conflict.⁵⁷

3. Threats to SOGI minorities and Women

A number of actions by the administration directly undermine the protection of the rights of SOGI (sexual orientation and gender identity) minorities and women.

a) SOGI (Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity) minorities

- Eliminating Trans Protections. The administration has eliminated Obama- and Biden-era protections for transgender students in schools under Title IX,⁵⁸ ended gender affirming care (in an order currently being blocked by a court⁵⁹), and permitted federally funded shelters and healthcare providers to deny services to SOGI minorities based on religious objections.⁶⁰
- Protection of SOGI Minority Discrimination. The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), under the control of the administration, is taking steps to dismiss the agency's own cases that it brought in the past against businesses accused of discrimination against SOGI minorities.⁶¹
- Military Trans Ban. The administration has banned the enlistment of trans persons in the military and ordered the discharge of trans persons currently serving in the military.⁶²
- Sports Trans Bans. On February 5, the administration banned transgendered female athletes from competing in female sports and ordered the denial of visa applications of transgendered athletes.⁶³
- SOGI Minority Media Bans. Agencies have been ordered to remove material from their websites mentioning SOGI minorities, such as the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children's publications on protecting gay and trans children.⁶⁴
- Moving Incarcerated Trans women to men's prisons. The administration ordered incarcerated trans women to be moved to men's prisons, where they are placed at high risk of harm, and it ended their gender-affirming care. The order has been temporarily blocked by a court.⁶⁵
- Undermining SOGI Harassment Rules. The EEOC has altered the definition of sexual harassment to exclude harassment regarding sexual orientation, gender identity, or pregnancy.⁶⁶
- Summary Legal Analysis. These moves contradict Bostock v. Clayton County (2020), in which the Supreme Court ruled that discrimination based on sexual orientation or gender identity is a violation of Title VII.⁶⁷ These actions also deeply contradict international human rights standards for SOGI minorities as articulated in the Yogyakarta Principles.⁶⁸

b) Women's Reproductive Rights

- "Global Gag Rule". The administration has reinstated and expanded the "Global Gag Rule", preventing US funding for international organizations that provide or mention abortion services.⁶⁹
- Defunding Planned Parenthood. The administration has defunded Planned Parenthood and other reproductive health programs that offer abortion services, even if also providing other medical care.⁷⁰
- Summary Legal Analysis. The denial of women's health care violates International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights (ICESCR) Article 12 and Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination against Women (CEDAW) Article 12.⁷¹ The UN Human Rights Committee has described the decriminalization and availability of abortions as critical to human rights, observing that “outlawing women’s access to abortion services can cause severe suffering and undermines their personal integrity and autonomy, which results in acute violations of their human rights.”⁷²

4. Restrictions and threats against civil and political rights of critics of the administration

The administration has harassed and threatened journalists, media outlets, political opponents, lawyers, judges, and other critical voices in apparent reprisals and to silence criticism. Examples include the following.

- Threats against Critics by the Head of the FBI. Among other statements targeting opponents, in 2023 the head of the FBI Kash Patel wrote the book "Government Gangsters" that included the names of 60 people he listed as part of the deep state, raising concern he would use the FBI to arrest his political opponents without due process.⁷³ The top opposition member on the Senate Judiciary Committee, Sen. Dick Durbin stated that “His enemies list, what he calls his government gangsters, this is what you expect of Stasi, this is what you expect of secret police.”⁷⁴
- Threats against Critical Journalists. The Federal Communication Commission (FCC) is investigating a radio station in San Jose, KCBS, for reporting on immigration enforcement actions by ICE.⁷⁵ The administration announced the government would cancel all Politico subscriptions (worth $8 million) following critical reporting.⁷⁶ The Pentagon has removed press workspaces for numerous independent media outlets including the New York Times, Washington Post, NPR, Politico, The Hill, The War Zone, and NPR.⁷⁷ The president has used frivolous defamation lawsuits to intimidate media companies including ABC and CBS.⁷⁸ It has indefinitely barred AP from the Oval Office and Air Force One (two presidential offices) because it did not refer to the Gulf of Mexico as the Gulf of America.⁷⁹ The president has called for the firing of Washington Post columnist Eugene Robinson⁸⁰ and that CBS should lose its broadcasting license (with the FCC also investigating CBS⁸¹) and Musk has called for the Wall St Journal reporter Katherine Long to be fired for critical reporting.⁸²
- Intimidation of Online Media. In January before starting his term, when then-president-elect Trump was asked by a reporter whether he thought Mark Zuckerberg, the head of Meta and Facebook, ended Facebook’s fact-checking operation in response to Trump’s past threats of legal action against him for speech on Facebook, Trump answered “Probably”.⁸³
- Threats and Actions against Lawyers. The administration warned 10,000 Department of Justice lawyers of “discipline and potentially termination” if they refused to “zealously advocate” for the administration’s agenda.⁸⁴ The judge advocates general (head lawyers) for the Army, Navy, and Air Force are being replaced, which an ex-Air Force chief prosecutor called “extremely concerning.”⁸⁵
- Reprisal Threats against Federal Investigators. The administration has attempted to release the names of FBI employees who worked on investigations involving the January 6 invasion of the US capitol to overturn the 2020 election (which led to at least 1575 arrests, most later pardoned) to apparently target the agents for public retribution, later temporarily blocked by a federal judge.⁸⁶
- Threats Against Judges. After Musk called for the impeachment of judges that block Trump’s and Musk’s orders, as well reposted statements encouraging defiance of judges’ order, Republicans of the House of Representatives are planning to begin impeachment processes against at least two federal judges who blocked the administration’s actions.⁸⁷ Musk also posted the name, picture, job, and other information of the daughter of Judge McConnell who ordered the reversal of Musk's decision to freeze all federal grants, as an apparent threat and reprisal for the decision.⁸⁸ It was in this context that on 15 February 2025 the Justice Department under the administration’s control arbitrarily fired 20 immigration judges without explanation, despite the immigration caseload being overwhelmed with 3.7 million pending cases and long delays.⁸⁹
- Ending judicial control of the executive. On February 19, Trump signed an executive order giving the attorney general and president the ability to provide “authoritative interpretations of the law for the executive branch” without judiciary involvement, inconsistent with the clear text of Article II and III of the Constitution and established jurisprudence holding that only the judiciary has that power.⁹⁰

- Firing of Inspector Generals. The administration has fired at least 17 inspector generals of various agencies tasked with oversight of their respective agencies, facilitating corruption and mismanagement within the agencies.⁹¹
- Undermining whistleblower protection. The administration has asked the Supreme Court to overturn a previous judge’s court order reinstating the head of the Office of the Special Council (OSC), which the administration had fired.⁹² The OSC is tasked to protect whistleblowers from retaliation. The decision is expected to determine whether the administration can fire the head of any agency.
- Actions Against NGOs and Civil Society. Trump issued an executive memo ordering a review of federal funding to all NGOs, and government funding for many NGOs has already been eliminated.⁹³
- Threats against Religious Minorities. The administration has establishment of a task force to “eradicate anti-Christian bias” in the federal government, appearing to violate the First Amendment Establishment Clause on its face.⁹⁴
- Summary Legal Analysis. These threats, if acted on, would flagrantly violate civil rights protections under the ICCPR including the rights to freedom of expression (for journalists and other critics) and protection against arbitrary arrest, fair trial, and other rights prohibiting intimidations of judges, investigators, lawyers, and whistleblowers involved in the administration of justice.

5. Threats to economic and social rights by the elimination or weakening of government services

Dozens of US agencies are currently being severely weakened by irresponsible staff dismissals and appointments and orders by the administration and DOGE that show destructive control over agency operations, including control over vast amounts of sensitive and private agency information, by manifestly unqualified persons without security clearances and with serious conflicts of interest.⁹⁵ Dozens of federal offices have been negatively impacted, including 36 listed in the following endnote among many others.⁹⁶

Some of the programs, protections, and services eliminated, greatly weakened, or restricted include public access to vaccines⁹⁷ and medicine,⁹⁸ all federally funded medical research,⁹⁹ safety from the spread of diseases,¹⁰⁰ medical and other services for veterans,¹⁰¹ severe weather early warning systems,¹⁰² the safety of air flights,¹⁰³ food and drug safety,¹⁰⁴ energy security and clean energy,¹⁰⁵ the safety of nuclear material, facilities, and weapons,¹⁰⁶ programs to combat air pollution and climate change,¹⁰⁷ protection from consumer fraud,¹⁰⁸ access to education,¹⁰⁹ disability services,¹¹⁰ wildfire prevention and elimination,¹¹¹ workplace safety¹¹² labor protections,¹¹³ privacy of personal financial information,¹¹⁴ postal services (and by extension mail-in ballot security for future elections),¹¹⁵ and many other programs, protections, and services.

The staff reductions and changes, mismanagement, cuts, and restrictions of programs, many of which display open conflicts of interest with Musk’s business and financial interests (both in punishing or weakening agencies restricting Musk’s businesses and ordering agencies to purchase from or advantage Musk’s businesses, with at least 25 examples listed in sources in the endnote),¹¹⁶ will have negative effects for the millions of people that rely on the government services provided by the respective agencies for protection of virtually every economic and social right listed in the ICESCR, including the rights to health, education, adequate standard of living (including access to adequate water, food, housing, etc.), decent work, and social security.¹¹⁷ The loss of services will be particularly destructive to vulnerable communities including women, children, ethnic and SOGI minorities, those in poverty, disabled persons, and other vulnerable populations.

Recommendations

HRN calls on the US administration to immediately revoke all orders and actions that transparently violate or threaten international human rights obligations and standards or are otherwise illegal, and to conduct an analysis of all decisions to ensure their consistency with international human rights standards and obligations, including all of the actions and threats listed in this statement.
